ROYCE RINGSDORF, TIPTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PRESIDENT, IS TULARE COUNTY GRAND CHAMPION COW MILKER

June Dairy month ended with a flourish in Porterville as Royce Ringsdorf, president of the Tipton chamber of commerce, was crowned grand champion cow milker of Tulare county, following a contest in front of the Porterville city hall, Friday, and a thousand children of the community were guests of Consolidated Milk Producers and Smith's market at a kiddie show at the Porter theatre Saturday morning.

Competing for the cow-milking title against Mr. Ringsdorf were Mayor Lester J. Hamilton, of Porterville; Mayor Carl Miller, of Tulare and Manuel Toledo, Tulare city councilman. Dairy Princess Karen Mays brought four of her registered Jerseys down from Success Valley for the event.

The milking contest ended on a questionable note when Bill Reece, publicity entrepreneur for the Consolidated Milk Producers, who engineered the county-wide milking contest then muscled himself in as judge, officially announced that Mr. Ringsdorf had milked three-quarters of a pound, while Mayor Hamilton had milked 12 ounces.

Hot Springs Teacher For 27 Years Retires

Mrs. Irene Bunker has retired after teaching all eight grades in the California Hot Springs school for 27 years. A total of 650 pupils have received their elementary education from Mrs. Bunker.

Reece then awarded the championship to Mr. Ringsdorf and re-

RANGE SOCIETY TO TOUR AREA THIS WEEK

California Section of the American Society of Range Management is touring Tulare county this week, with field trips slated for Friday and Saturday and a banquet at Gang Sue's in Porterville, Friday evening, when State Senator J. Howard Williams will speak on "Water Problems of California."

Members of the tour will leave Forest Service headquarters in Porterville at 10:00 a.m., Friday, to visit the H. & B. Cattle company ranch and the John Guthrie feedlot.

On Saturday, the tour will leave the Forest Service headquarters at 7:30 a.m. to observe grazing practices and land management in the foothills and mountains east of Porterville.

RESULTS OF HORMONE IMPLANTING OF STEERS WILL BE DEMONSTRATED AT GUTHRIE FEEDLOT MEET JULY 17

Results of implanting steers with hormones will be shown at a meeting of interested cattlemen to be held Tuesday, July 17, at 10:00 a.m. at the John Guthrie feedlot northwest of Porterville.

In feedlot tests, three pens of steers were treated with different amounts of stilbestrol, one pen was implanted with a combination of progesterone and Estradiol, and one pen was set up for control.

Cattle from these pens will be on display at the July 17 meeting; in addition, five head of cattle from each pen will have been slaughtered to provide a basis for discussion of grade and yield data.

Significant differences in gains have shown up between the various pens, with the best pen gaining close to three pounds per head per day. Farm Advisor Bob Miller, who has conducted the trial and is holding the meeting, states that cattle feeders who wish to increase their profits should attend this meeting to see how hormones can help to achieve this end.

Dr. Tran Clegg of the Animal Husbandry department, University of California, will also be on the program to discuss the results of implanting thousands of head of cattle in trials conducted at the University and throughout the state.

COMMITTEE IS ORGANIZED TO PROVIDE INFORMATION ON BEEF PROMOTION REFERENDUM VOTE

By Bill Reece, Farm Tribune Staff Representative

Dairyman Amelia Curti of Tulare and cattleman Freeland Farnsworth of Porterville were named Tuesday by members of Tulare county's livestock industry at a meeting in Visalia to head the local drive of the state's beef promotion campaign to bring to all producers information in advance of the referendum on which they will vote in August.

The referendum calls for a 10 cent per head levy on all cattle sold as approved by the state's lawmakers at the last session of the state legislature. The bill had the backing of the California Beef Industry council, producers, packers and retailers. A 65 percent approving vote is necessary before the act becomes effective.

Purpose of the program, according to the newly elected chairman, is to create a fund to promote the sale of beef and beef products throughout the state. "It's our best opportunity to help ourselves and to avoid government subsidies" said the two prominent local producers.

They estimate that approximately $400,000 can be raised annually through the assessment which will be collected at the point of sale by the department of hides and brands. Generally, the tax will apply to all cattle whose ultimate destination is the family dinner table. Exempt from the levy are cattle sold from pasture, calves under 200 pounds, breeding and milking stock.

"Virtually every cattle, dairy and feedlot association in California has signified its support of the beef promotion program" said Mr. Farnsworth, owner of the "Achey" Hereford ranch, located in the White River district south of Porterville. He pointed out that beef producers traditionally have opposed government help but said that, "unless we help ourselves and do it now we are almost certain to be voted into subsidies in much the same way as the suppliers of our grain and feed supplies are."

"Dairymen too have a vital interest in the program", stated Mr. Curti, president of the Tulare County Consolidated Milk Producers, adding that 30 percent of the cattle slaughtered in the state are of the dairy breeds. He said, "Dairymen have a real stake in the beef business, especially in the lower grades of beef which have a greater seasonal fluctuation than

SUCCESS DAM WORK WILL START SOON

Securing of property, relocation of road rights of ways and other work preliminary to construction of Success dam will get under way in the immediate future with signing of a $863,727,000 public works bill by President Dwight D. Eisenhower this week.

Included in this bill was an amount of $2,490,000 for the Success dam project on the Tule river, just below the middle and south fork of the river, and $558,000 for Terminus dam on the Kaweah river, east of Visalia.

This money will be spent during the fiscal year that started July 1; it is expected that additional appropriations will be made annually to keep these two projects rolling.

Both dams are listed as flood control projects; they will be constructed by private contractors under direction of the United States Army engineers.

When actual construction work will get underway is dependent on time required to take care of preliminary work.

HUTCHINSON HEADS HIGH SCHOOL BOARD

Ray Hutchinson, Poplar district rancher, was elected chairman of the Porterville Union High School and College board at organization meeting Monday evening; Neva Darr was reelected clerk of the board and District Superintendent C. W. Easterbrook was named secretary of the board.

Seated as a new member was Frank W. Sheldon, of Porterville, who replaced former board chairman Herman Matzke, who retired from the board. Jackson Mead, of Porterville, recently reelected, and Howard Baker of Terra Bella, are the other board members.

The board will meet regularly on the second and fourth Mondays of each month; special meetings have been set for July 18 and 30 and for August 6 and 27.

KRAMER HEADS 4-H COUNCIL

Herb Kramer, a leader in the Earlimart 4-H club for 11 years, was elected, Monday evening, as president of the Tulare County 4-H Club council. Other officers are: William Waddle, Linwood, vice president; Mrs. Harold Hadlock, Library, secretary; Mrs. Franklin Cole, Divisadero, treasurer. Outgoing president was Mrs. John Khachigian.

By Betty Pearson

Karelin Karsteadt and Company are having the time of their lives this summer at the Lazy K Girls' ranch. Now don't get the idea that the K on the end of the Lazy stands for Karelin. Shucks . . .

Karelin has hired herself out as one of the star performers known as "The Bubble Dancers". That is sort of an interesting way of saying "dish washer" . . . Dish washers with OOMPH! Besides the three daily performances there is plenty of time to ride . . . Now you get it, don't you. It's that summer practice that helps to keep our WONDERFUL Canterbelles so wonderful. . . . Did you hear about Doctor Bob, who takes his wife fishing so he will be sure to have fresh fish for lunch . . . Now, there is a smart feller! Besides that, his wife has a fine reputation for knowing how to catch 'em. Well, you either have it, or you don't.

Visited the Tulare Town & Country club last Saturday night. The club is very nice and run very successfully. We had an excellent barbecued chicken dinner for $1.50, danced to a very nice orchestra and met some very nice people, who were more than happy to explain the operation of their club. I understand that during the winter there are two dinner dances a month. The club is rented to organizations for other parties. All summer the big day seems to be Sunday, which is family day with buffet supper, swimming and general summer fun. This type of clubhouse would certainly be nice to have in a town like ours.

Was asking Paul Sweat about the Balch Park project. This is another grand idea for good outdoor recreation for the families of Our Town. This would give us a place close to home for ourselves and our children to ski, iceskate and enjoy our natural outdoor life. Gosh . . . I'm sure project-minded this week.

Ed and Ruth Vincent, with Harold and Jerry McVickers, just returned from Lake Tahoe. It was hot there so it didn't seem so bad to return to 109° weather. Understand a trip like that is great in any weather with a yellow air-conditioned Buick . . . huh, Ed?

Been reading in the big city sheets about a so-called singer, name of Elvis Presley. Seems that he came out with a splash on our TV sets . . . He bellows like a hog caller and wiggles like a worm. Now this was a little different so the press agents sold our kids on him and they bought his records so now he is a so-called star. Seems like some of us old fuddy-duddy parents were watching some of these shows and said, "Brother, you have gone beyond the line of decency and we have had it." Now they have him standing still while he sings, but he still sounds pretty much like a hog caller. Since I'm one of those old fuddy-duddy parents, maybe I'm just prejudice but I'm glad that we can still have a little control when things get out of hand. I would like to tell those fellows that as a part of their buying public I think it is pretty poor business on their part . . . when you try to sell our kids on stuff like that, as parents we are bound to object.

Was reading somewhere that the art of conversation was slipping. HA! I don't believe it. Seems like my friends are the talkiest bunch of people I know and it's a wonder . . . because I hardly ever shut-up long enough for anyone to say anything. There are lots of good subjects to discuss. I think politics and religion are the greatest. You may not agree but everyone sure has an opinion and is usually happy expressing it. Did you ever know a group of girls that didn't have an opinion on raising children . . . at least someone else's?

Hope you had a grand July Fourth and remembered a moment why we celebrate that day.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The date — July 4, 1776.

The document — The Declaration of Independence.

The new philosophy that was to become known as "The American Way":

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness; that to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness."

In these words was born a new philosophy of government — the idea that government has only the authority that is given to it by the people; that the purpose of government is to serve the people, not to dominate them; that government officials answer to the people, the people do not answer to them; that the rights of men as individuals supersede governmental decree.

This thinking, expressed in our Declaration of Independence, then expanded in our United States Constitution, has formed the foundation for development of America as the greatest nation in the world.

Because of a system of laws built around the philosophy of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, we enjoy tangible rights and privileges — we live as free men and women.

No other system of government offers more, in the way of individual liberty, than we in America already enjoy; no other system of government offers even the promise of greater liberty than we already have; no other system of government can offer greater hope for the future.

The "new theory" of government expressed in our Declaration of Independence 180 years ago is now the proved, practical, working principle of a prosperous nation, yet it is still the "new theory" that the world is searching for. Our hope for continued freedom, continued prosperity lies within the framework of the governmental philosophies that are now realities for us; our hope lies not in some political panacea, but in always keeping the ideals of our Declaration of Independence and of our Constitution alive, fresh and new.

TOO MUCH WATER USUAL IN CITRUS

Too much water, rather than not enough, is the usual situation in citrus groves of Tulare county, according to Farm Advisor James H. LaRue. Growers should check water penetration and amounts in soil to determine extent of and periods of irrigation.

Since 1880, cattle inventories have gone up six times. After expansions varying from six to eight years they have turned downward without fail. The current cycle started its upward course in 1949. In January, 1956, it made its seventh increase, as the sizable expansion in slaughter to that date was not sufficient to stop it.

OLD DAYS

Porterville Daily Advance May 12, 1896

C. W. Buswell was in from his ranch three miles north of town this morning and informed us that he has just placed in position a new Best engine, of two horsepower, which will be used to pump water for irrigation purposes. The engine will use crude petroleum for fuel; cost to run the engine will be six cents per day for fuel. Stockton Berry, of Lindsay, is agent for the Best engines.

Lovren and Ardell were arraigned in Judge Cross' department of the Superior Court yesterday, and trials for this pernicious pair were set for June 1. Both entered a plea of not guilty to charges of "wilfully, unlawfully and feloniously" boarding a railroad passenger train of the Southern Pacific company with the intent to rob said train, and asked for separate trials, which was granted.

You are invited to become a subscriber to the Porterville Daily Advance for the small sum of 15 cents per week.

From the annual report of County Superintendent McPhail of the public schools of Tulare county, we take the following relating to the Porterville schools: Total number of boys enrolled 150; girls, 146; total 296.

By the time this is printed we hope to have "gone fishin'." Various suggestions were received on how to produce and what to say in our absence but none seemed a perfect answer. The easiest suggestion was just to print "gone fishing" and say nothing else. The most elaborate was to take a carrier pigeon and send the column out direct. This latter thought had to be discarded because fisherman of our ability might end up eating the pigeon.

However there must be some good fisherman to supply all the fish used in fertilizer and we sell quite a bit of fish fertilizer both dry and liquid. It doesn't say whether they're made from gold fish or whales but they do wonders for flowers and potted plants. It might be you could use some of your husband's surplus fish around the garden but don't try it unless you love cats! Of course our fish have been deodorized and have very little smell — it says here.

If you like tomato sauce with your fish we still have a few plants and if you have the plants we have dust and fertilizer for them. This will also work on corn, beans, and other vegetables. Any of this can be had on "E" Street north of Olive where there's plenty of free parking. In the shade too!

CITRUS AGAIN MOST IMPORTANT STATE FOOD CROP

Citrus was again California's most important food crop in 1955, with a value of more than $190 million in twelve southern California counties, including Tulare county.

Citrus was followed in valuation by cattle, poultry, dairy products, cotton and hay, according to F. R. Wilcox, Sunkist Growers official and chairman of the agricultural committee of the Los Angeles county chamber of commerce.

New Members Accepted By Medical Group

Two new members — Dorla Myer of Porterville and Lorene Nix, of Terra Bella, were accepted as new members of the Tulare County Society of Medical Assistants at a dinner meeting held recently at the Sequoia club, Tulare.

Ione Froseth, of Visalia, was elected treasurer of the group; Mrs. Clara Corrie, former treasurer, who will soon move to Bakersfield, was presented with a corsage as a farewell gift.

During the evening, Irene Johnson reported on projects for fund raising; door prizes were presented to Mary Cox and Irene Johnson, of Visalia; Vivian Babb, Porterville, was given a merchandise order; date of September 10 was set for the next board meeting — at the Pauline Flinspach home in Porterville, and fall session was announced as beginning September 20 with a dinner at the Wagon Wheel Steak house in Visalia.

FRED A. STRAUSS ASSOCIATED WITH PIONEER PORTERVILLE ENGINEERING FIRM HEADED BY IRVIN H. ALTHOUSE

Irvin H. Althouse, well known consulting engineer of Porterville, has announced that Fred A. Strauss is joining with him to form a partnership in order to better meet the growing engineering needs of this area. The partnership is to operate under the name of Althouse - Strauss Engineering services and will specialize in civil engineering work.

Mr. Althouse has been engaged in civil engineering in Porterville since 1909 and is recognized as an expert on irrigation engineering, well development and pumping plant design. He was associated with work which resulted in the construction and operation of the Friant-Kern canal of the Federal Central Valley project. He took an active part and interest in representing this area of the state during the period of activity prior to commencement of the construction of the CVP at the many state and federal committee meetings.

Mr. Althouse has taken an active interest in the program of the Irrigation Districts association of California during the past many years and was chairman of the Underground Water committee which had to do with rewriting the legislation concerning underground water and disapproving matters which it was felt were objectionable for the sound program of the irrigation districts.

He is presently retained as engineer to the Saucelito, Exeter and Vandalia Irrigation districts, the Hope Water district and has been engaged as consulting engineer by many other districts from time to time. For many years he was the engineer for the City of Porterville and at the present time is engineer for the City of Exeter.

Mr. Strauss was formerly a resident of Sacramento where he was employed as a senior hydraulic engineer with the California Division of Water Resources. For the past 8½ years, he has been associated with the State Water Supply Forecasting program. During the last 6½ years, Mr. Strauss was in charge of the snow survey work and stream run-off forecasting in addition to responsibilities in the flood control program.

Prior to state service, Mr. Strauss served as resident engineer on timber access roads for the U. S. Forest service and did surveying work in Alaska for the U. S. corps of engineers. During World War II he served in the Pacific with the U. S. Navy.

Both Mr. Althouse and Mr. Strauss are active in the American Society of Civil Engineers and the American Geophysical Union. Mr. Althouse was awarded a life membership in the American Society of Civil Engineers in January of 1954. Mr. Strauss has served the Western Snow conference as area chairman for the California, Nevada and Arizona region since 1952 and plans to remain active in that field.

Mr. Strauss plans to move his wife and three children to Porterville in the near future.

They believe that soil can be rid of radioactivity by adding certain salts and by leaching. A similar experiment is being conducted at Hopland, in Mendocino county.

COTTON DAUBER ON INCREASE IN COUNTY

The lygus bug, or "cotton dauber" is on the increase in Tulare county cotton fields, according to Farm Advisor Alan George, who warns farmers to take control measures as needed before damage results.

Need for lygus treatment can be determined by the sweep method, according to Mr. George. By this method, a series of 50 sweep samples are made with a standard insect net through the tops of one row of cotton at several locations in the field. When counts average about 10 lygus bugs per 50 sweep, each nymph counting as two, control should be taken. The presence of nymphs indicates a more advanced and serious infestation.

In cases where counts are about 10 adult lygus bugs per 50 sweeps with no nymphs present and an abundance of predators it would be advisable to re-check the field again in five to seven days as the adults are migratory.

Another method for determining the need for lygus treatment later on would be by checking the amount of flower damage. Treatment is indicated when an average of five per cent of the white blossom shows typical lygus injury plus the presence of the insect. Injured flowers show a crinkled and warty surface on the petals and brown on the inner floral parts.

Recommended control is with DDT or Toxaphene. One to one and a half pounds per acre of actual DDT or two to three pounds of Toxaphene as a dust or spray are recommended. It would be advisable to include a mite depressant with this application, if none has been applied.

Recommendations for control of the lygus bugs, and other cotton insects are available at the Farm and Home Advisors office in the basement of the Visalia post office.

fused to listen to certain partisan spectators who informed him that 12 ounces and three quarters of a pound are the same.

When interviewed later, Reece first denied everything, then he said that Barney Richardson, at Jones Hardware company had given him a bad scale; then he attempted to shift the conversation to the profession of optometry when he alibied that his trifocals were out of focus.

Final comment from Reece was: "Say anything you want to but spell my name right; and mention Consolidated Milk Producers." (What a huckster this Reece is getting to be.)

Public turmoil over the milking contest decision had subsided sufficiently so that Reece was able to come back to town Saturday to pass out cartons of milk, balloons and comic books to children attending the Dairy Month show at the Porter Theatre.

FINS UR FEATHERS

By Phil The Forester

The fish and game commission recently fixed the 1956 hunting regulations and then at a meeting late last week took certain action that sportsmen have always been under the impression could not be done under the law. The action was to eliminate that portion of Tuolumne county that opened to deer hunting on September 15.

The regular inland or Sierra deer season in September 22 to October 28 inclusive, except Inyo and Mono counties and what might be described as the east slope of Tuolumne, Madera, Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties that border Inyo and Mono and here the season is September 15 to October 28.

There was no indication that the commission had any intention to set the inland deer season in the manner they did and the final determination came as somewhat of a surprise. The proposal for the early date was made by a High Sierra packer of the east side who reportedly represented the Inyo-Mono Coordinating Council. Organized sportsmen at the commission meeting as well as the game experts of the department of fish and game opposed the idea but the commission set the two inland opening dates nevertheless.

Sportsmen and department people felt that the one week earlier deer season for the area would bring forth a terrific concentration of hunters from the Los Angeles area, San Joaquin hunters over the Walker Pass and sportsmen from Sacramento and San Francisco over Sonora Pass with detrimental affect, if not on the deer then certainly on public relations. Anything might happen with several thousand deer hunters converged in a small area and all intent on bagging a buck.

The Tuolumne sportsmen wanted no part of this deal and appeared at the last commission meeting and asked to have their county put on a uniform open deer hunting date of September 22 and this the commission did.

But it's always understood that once the fishing regulations or the hunting regulations as they apply to seasons, bag limits and methods of taking have been fixed for the year by the commission no changes were possible under the law. Having thus set a precedent we might very well expect other requests for changes.

The commission approved the various special controlled either sex deer hunts and applications to participate must be filed by September 24. The application forms are attached to the 1956 deer tags. Deer taken by a permittee will be considered a premium deer.
